

Cocaine—a one-way ticket to certain death!

When the CIA learns that the U.S. is being inundated by a wave of cocaine of unprecedented quality, it sets Agents Dekker and Hallmayer on the case to look into the drug's origins. What initially seems to be a simple job quickly turns out to be the toughest case of their careers so far.

The investigation leads them deep into the Colombian jungle, where a drug cartel led by the Italian mafia has built up a veritable empire. The cartel is highly organized and guards its secrets extremely well. Together with experienced CIA agent Francis Delahunt, they attempt to sabotage the cartel's authority and destroy its infrastructure step by step.

But the job doesn't end there. Dekker and Hallmayer still don't know how the cocaine is being smuggled into the United States—and thousands of lives depend on this information ...

Hans Joachim Palm was born in 1946 near Düsseldorf, Germany as the son of a textile manufacturer and has earned a degree in business. He now lives in the U.S. as an American citizen and has begun writing crime novels. His long-time, in-depth knowledge and experience stems from establishing his own international financial firms around the world where he came into contact with members of the mafia. His books are a reflection of his personal experience of working in international finance and his co-operation with the CIA.
